FAIL TO SETTLE ORLAND PARK FIRE TRUCK DEADLOCK

All efforts to settle the Orland Park fire truck controversy among those chiefly interested have failed to come to any successful conclusion. Mayor W. R. Schussler Jr. conferred with John Helenhouse fire chief of the old fire department for over two hours last Sunday and it looked as though the dispute could be ironed out. By Monday however the deadlock was on again and all parties interested appeared before Judge John Prystalski in Chicago Tuesday afternoon. The Village Officials of Orland Park asked for a continuance of another week expressing the belief that the difficulty might be mutually settled by that time. Judge Prystalski accordingly granted a continuance until next Wednesday.

Orland Sleuth Uncovers What May Be Kidnap Case

Wednesday evening Constable John Helenhouse of Orland Park was reading an evening Chicago paper and ran across a news story about a Chicago man wanted for kidnapping two young boys. The news story said John Doe warrants had been issued for the man of whom a description was given, also the names of the boys. Later in the evening Constable Helenhouse learned that a car and trailer had been seen around Orland for several days and that a man and two boys were seen in the car. The man had been selling spark tubes and inner tubes.

Thursday morning Constable Helenhouse learned from the Oak Ridge garage that the same man had been in the garage and had some work done which amounted to $6. He paid $2 and asked the garage man to buy a bicycle which he offered for $4. Constable learned that the man had his car and trailer parked in the forest preserve along the Orland Lake. Next Constable Helenhouse called the county police at Willow Springs and asked that a squad be sent out which was done. With the three county police Constable Helenhouse rounded up the man and the two boys and upon questioning they gave their names and address which corresponded with the information contained in the news article in the Chicago paper. The man was arrested and taken to Willow Springs and the boys were taken to the juvenile home in Chicago. According to the story told the man had enticed the boys to go with him on trips about the country. The boys, according to Constable Helenhouse, stole various articles which the man was selling.

The man gave his name as E. Lowe, 6206 Irving Park Road, Chicago; the boys gave their names as Melvin Schultz, 12 years old of 13145 So. Sacramento Ave., Blue Island and Raymond Thompson, nine years old, 13124 Western Ave., Blue Island. Later it was learned that Justice of the peace Claire Moore of Bremen township had issued John Doe warrants in the case.

Explosion Rocks Countryside

The terrific explosion at the Elwood Ordnance Plant rocked the entire countryside throughout this section. Some people thought it was a heavy thunder storm and the sound of explosion was taken for a thunder clap. At Mokena it is reported the shock cracked a number of cisterns causing them to run dry and the roof of the new Jack Bender home south of Mokena on Wolf road is also reported to have sustained a severe crack.

Mrs. Willis Hall of Mokena who was working on the night shift at the Munitions plant about three miles from the scene of the explosion said that the sky became brightly illuminated following which there was a terrific explosion. She escaped injury but was badly frightened.

Ervin Siemsen of Tinley Park had quite a close call from being a casualty at the munitions plant. He had been employed on the night shift and worked in the building which was destroyed. He had made arrangements with a fellow worker to take his place so that he could return home and the substitute is supposed to have been killed. Arkey Nowell of Tinley Park, a fireman on the Rock Island switch engine said he was seated in the engine on the J and Rock Island crossing when suddenly the sky lit up with a rosy hue followed by a terrific up heave. The engine was rocked by the blast.

In Orland Park quite a number of people were roused from their slumbers some of them running out side to see if they could determine what caused the trembling sensation experienced. The ground and buildings rocked as though an earth quake had hit the community. No damage was reported at Tinley or Orland.

Approximately 1200 Republicans of Cook County gathered in the grand ballroom of the Hotel Sherman Wednesday evening for a dinner given as a tribute to Wm. H. Senator Brooks called attention to the danger that America in making an all out war effort might face, that "all of our enemies are not abroad." "There are those," the Senator asserted, "who would use the war as an excuse to permanently change our form of government and destroy faith in our legislative procedure and the Constitution. As we watch the constant smear campaign we renew our devotion to the cause of our country. We have yielded some of our liberties voluntarily, and we might meet force with force, but we are determined to keep the form of our government intact." He added that America's strength springs from free American institutions and the two party system. Due to the festivities at Great Lakes Naval Training station when

Work Started On New Church

The Trinity Lutheran church of New Lenox is happy to announce that their contemplated building program is now under way, and that arrangements are being made for the corner stone laying within a month or six weeks. The original plan was to complete the construction this year, but government regulations will not permit it at this time. For that reason it was found necessary to revise the building program. The present plan calls for the construction of the first story this summer and the building of the superstructure after the war. This plan will enable the congregation to worship in its own house before the entire project is completed.

The contract for the building of the church was awarded to Mm. Wm. Zimmermann of Chicago, a stone mason. Mr. Zimmermann and his two brothers will lay the stone and the brick to be used in this project. Members of the congregation dug the basement during the past week.

AAA CHECKUP BEGINS SOON

The check up to be made by committeemen starting this month, will show the extent to which farmers have fulfilled their pledges to produce "Food for Freedom." These pledges originally, made last fall and renewed after Pearl Harbor.

Reporters will check on the farmers' compliance with corn allotments and soil conservation requirements of the AAA program, according to Carl M. Bormet, Cook County AAA chairman.

Farmers were encouraged to plant within corn allotments this year to make roof for soybeans and other war crops. The soil conserving requirement is that at least 20 percent of farm's total cropland be seeded to soil conserving grasses and legumes. "Unless they conserve the soil, farmers won't be able to maintain production throughout a long war," said Mr. Bormet, "We aren't running the danger of being unable to provide for the food needs of the nation, because of wornout land."

7 Local Men Figured In Big Explosion

Six New Lenox men figured in the explosion at the Elwood Ordnance plant last Friday morning. Eugene O'Connor, 33 years old, brother of Mrs. Edmund Knowles of New Lenox is still reported as missing and is presumed to be killed. He had been working at the plant for six weeks. He has a wife and two small children, Kathy, 4 years old and Michael, 15 months. Geo. W. Carter and Cyril C. Neverman both escaped injury. At first both were believed dead or missing and were on the casualty list until FBI men found them safe at home.

Howard Spuehler was thrown through a window of the building where he was working but escaped serious injury and returned home shortly afterward.

Geo. Lyman received a cut on the head and was able to return home Friday afternoon after receiving first aid treatment.

Robt. Hines received a fractured right thigh and Edw. Gordon was seriously injured.

It required 2 1/2 hours for work men to get him out from under the pile of lumber and debris that had fallen on him. He could not be removed from the cot they had carried him in to the EOP hospital on until Sunday when he was moved from the cot for the first time. He suffered a broken leg above the knee and was quite badly scratched and cut about his face and head. It is possible he may have sustained possible internal injuries. He is a veteran of the last world war and has a wife and nine children.

Home Front Strengthened By Army of Rural Women

Wives and Daughters Help Keep Nation's Larder Full.

If victory begins at home, it is up to the women to start it.

So you will find rural women today, individually, in small groups and in large groups, figuring out what needs to be done to strengthen the home front and doing it.

First and foremost, the production of food must not be interrupted, even if husbands, brothers, sons and hired men are all called to the army or accept positions in war industry. Food must be produced and plenty of it. Traveling in almost any part of the country, it is a common sight to see women driving tractors, feeding livestock, milking and doing practically all kinds of farm work. Generally, these are the farm wives and daughters who, with the help of the older men and the young boys, are not only keeping up production but actually increasing it to meet the national goals for vital foods.

To supply extra farm labor, a women's land army has been organized in Maryland, Connecticut and other places. The University of Maryland trained about 30 women who had enrolled in the land army in a four weeks' course in poultry, horticulture, and dairy. Connecticut's land army furnished help in harvesting fruits and vegetables, cultivating the garden and many other chores around the farm.

The women are serious about their responsibility. Visiting some farm homes in central Virginia during the spring the picture of a soldier boy on almost every mantel was noticed—a boy who last year was on the farm and this year is in the army. On a big poultry farm, the son was in an officer's training school while the mother carried on with the same number of chickens, working a little harder and a little longer to send her 150 or 200 dozen eggs to market each day to supply eggs for the army, eggs for munitions workers, eggs for the United Nations—more than 4 billion dozen of them needed in 1942.

Co-operative Endeavor.

If the women are going to work on the farm, they have to save time in the house or get extra help there. The women of Marshall county, S. D., have established an employment service for domestic help in the home demonstration agent's office so that women and girls who have some time to spare can help in the farm homes where women are taking more farm responsibility. In Texas, community sewing centers and canning centers make efficient use of sewing machines and pressure canning equipment and save time and effort for the housewife. Sharing the available equipment is one war measure that farm women's clubs have found very useful.

Women are also successfully entering the cow-testing field. One conservative association in Michigan finally agreed to try out girl testers because they were very anxious to continue their cow-testing work; but, said these gentlemen, she must wear overalls or slacks—we won't stand for shorts on our cow testers.

If the home front is to be a strong bulwark supporting our fighting forces, every man, woman and child must understand and contribute. Women in rural districts are taking a leading part in bringing

Women Students Enroll in War Aid Courses

After an extensive survey of the nation's need for trained women in various occupations, the Pennsylvania State college has made available nearly 100 courses for its women students, all closely-related to the war effort.

Among the elective courses recommended for women are journalism, commerce, mathematics, French, German, Spanish, shorthand, typing, horticulture, poultry husbandry, bacteriology, agricultural

They get the latest information on victory gardens, the buying of war bonds, anti-inflation legislation, and other war activities, and see that all of the 16 neighbors know and understand.

Victory Gardens.

The victory-garden idea was carried to all farm families through these neighborhood leaders. The secretary of agriculture called for 5 million farm home gardens, and this meant a garden on practically every farm. In some states, every farm home was visited and seeds supplied to those who could not afford to buy them. The neighborhood women are also following through with information on care of gardens, control of insects, and preservation of surplus vegetables. Mrs. M. O. Lawrence, a Mississippi leader, tells her neighbors: "If all farm families will grow all they and their city children need to eat, it will release all the factory-canned vegetables for those who cannot grow them and for the countries resisting aggression. So, farm wives, let us join hands and do this and help to win the war to save democracy." Another leader in a Virginia mountain community which has been largely on relief reports her activities: "I tell 'em to plant a garden, and they tell me 'Why, I'm on relief'; and I tell 'em, 'Maybe so, but you can't eat what ain't.'"

When a survey of the food supply was taken in Summit county, Utah, it was found that in the 500 farm homes 95 per cent had space for a garden, but only 38 per cent had gardens. Armed with these facts, a garden committee was appointed, and leaders selected to visit every farm home. They discussed the garden possibilities—the size of the garden plot, the water supply, the type of soil, and whether the labor was there to care for the garden. Next, letters were sent out listing recommended varieties, giving amounts of vegetables to plant, the time to plant them, and other garden helps. Women in each neighborhood volunteered as demonstration gardeners, keeping accurate records of when the garden was planted and sprayed, the cost in time and money, the amount of produce used by the family, sold, canned, and stored. Neighbors can visit the demonstration garden and find out all about the methods used. Gardens are really flourishing in Summit county, and the women are growing and learning to use new vegetables as their share in keeping plenty of health-giving foods on the home front.

Garden Total Doubled.

South Dakota's garden goals called for just twice as many gardens as had ever been grown there before. When all of the gardens are counted, it looks as if the goal will have been reached with 57,500 victory gardens to supply health-giving vegetables for South Dakota's farm families.

In times of war it is even more essential that the health and safety of children be insured, and this is woman's job. The great increase in hot school lunches and in clinics for school children and preschool children is an indication of a checking-up on this sector of the home front. When the women of Mountain View community, Va., began to check up, they found that some children were coming from isolated farms high up on the mountains and walking several miles to meet the school bus fortified by a very slender breakfast and bringing no lunch.

New Use for Feed Bags. Women's clubs have found many other ways to help the war along. For example, the home demonstration clubs of Wicomico county, Md., received a request for 100 emergency stretchers to be placed at strategic points throughout the county.

As the stretchers were to be made of three feed bags, letters were sent to local feed dealers and farm families urging them to contribute their empty bags. Three hundred and twenty-five bags were left at the home demonstration agent's office.

For Future Use

This poultry leader helps the women of her club with their poultry problems. She is shown with a few of her 200 baby chicks which, in the future, will help supply the needed 4 billion dozen eggs for the army, industrial workers, home supply and the number promised to the United Nations.

They returned home at twilight, weary and hungry, to an inadequate supper. The women got busy. First, they had a school canning day when anyone who had extra fruit and vegetables could bring it to be canned for the school. They arranged to get surplus commodities from the department of agriculture and a WPA cook. They succeeded in getting a nicely equipped school lunch building by using the material from two abandoned district schools and getting NYA boys to build it. Now a nutritious hot lunch is served to 150 children each day in an attractive, light dining room; and the Nazi War Losses in Russia Not Surprising To U. S. . . . Churchill Expects Germany's Col- lapse by Christmas . . .

Bell Syndicate—WNU Features.

WASHINGTON.—Official Britain has been greatly surprised by what it regards as the lack of interest in the United States in that part of Winston Churchill's recent broadcast, which related to German casualties in the Russian campaign.

The men around Mr. Churchill, according to reports just received here, had expected to see headlines six inches high on the front page of every American newspaper on this feature. When the first U. S. papers telling of the broadcast arrived in London you could have knocked them over with the proverbial feather. They even cabled their embassy in Washington to find out what had happened. Had the all-important paragraphs been smothered by static or what?

The item in question here is Churchill's statement that Nazi losses on the Russian front already had passed the total German losses in World War No. 1. He did not mention the number. A few American writers and commentators dug up the fact that German killed, alone, in World War No. 1, numbered more than 1,700,000. So that if more than 1,700,000 German soldiers have been killed in Russia since June last it is tremendously important.

Officials Disappointed

Now let's look at the background to the tremendous disappointment in British officialdom that the United States newspapers did not run to big front-page display on this. Actually the British officials knew that Mr. Churchill was exploding a bombshell. Yet so far as America was concerned it was a dud.

They probably thought that by this time their own painstaking habit of checking and rechecking before making any claim, and the obvious understatement which this process produces, would have been properly appraised in America. It has been reported here by virtually every returned correspondent. But it hasn't been fully appreciated.

So here's a tip to Mr. Churchill for any future statement he may make which he expects to electrify America. This is the way he should have expressed that point which the U. S. papers played down:

"You have not known what to believe about what was happening in Russia. You have been highly skeptical about both Nazi and Soviet claims. But the British government, which never claims a Nazi plane has been shot down unless somebody BESIDES the flier who did the shooting SAW and REPORTED it, has checked the figures. The British government, through its own sources exclusively, and with triple checking to see that no dead Nazi soldier was counted twice, can inform you that more than 1,700,000 Nazi troops have been killed, and proportionate numbers captured and wounded, in Russia since the Nazi invasion of that country began last June."

That statement would have gotten headlines. Although Mr. Churchill would express it much better, it is an accurate statement of the facts before him at the time.

Which, considering how skeptical some of us have been about the Soviet claims, is the best news yet.

Can Germany Face Another Winter of Fighting?

Putting together two of Winston Churchill's statements in recent speeches, it is a rather simple deduction that he really hopes for the war to end by Christmas, so far as Hitler is concerned, THIS Christmas. Not the end of the war by that time—Japan will remain to be dealt with—but the collapse of Hitler.

The first of these two statements was in his broadcast, when he said that Nazi losses in Russia alone so far had exceeded total German losses of World War No. 1. He mentioned no figures, but more than 1,700,000 Germans were killed, not counting wounded and captured, in World War No. 1.

The second was that while we had not yet reached the crest, we were in sight of it!

The "crest" is when Germany faces another winter of fighting in Russia! That will smash morale behind the German lines, Mr. Churchill believes, when the cold of next November turns into the bitter frigid of December along that Russian battle line. Mr. Churchill is assuming, in this premise, that we will reach the "crest" now in sight. That means he does not believe there will be such a Nazi victory in the warm weather of this summer as to prevent the collapse of German morale when cold weather sets in. In short, he does not believe the Germans will win through to the oil fields of the Caucasus this summer.

Otherwise, we would be driven back out of sight of the "crest" in the next few months.

SUNDAY: THE RISEN CHRIST AND HIS DISCIPLES

LESSON TEXT—Luke 24:33-48.
GOLDEN TEXT—Ye are witnesses of these things.—Luke 24:48.

The glory and gladness of the resurrection morning drove back the darkness of the tomb and replaced the disciples' sadness with holy gladness. God's message to His people is one of assurance and hope. The night may be dark, but the dawn will surely come.

Two of Jesus' disciples had been walking sadly along the road to Emmaus when suddenly a stranger was with them, telling them what the Scriptures taught about the Christ—His sufferings and His glory. Their hearts burned strangely within them (Luke 24:32), but they did not recognize Him until He broke the bread of their evening meal—and then He was gone.

But now they had a joyous message which sent them hurrying back to Jerusalem to the eleven who had gathered behind locked doors to discuss the reports which had also come to them of His resurrection. And suddenly—

I. "Jesus Himself Stood in the Midst" (vv. 33-43).

What a blessed and conclusive confirmation of their report. He, their beloved Lord and Master, stood there before them, alive and speaking His tender message of "Peace."

The disciples, however, were bewildered and slow to believe. Observe how kind and patient He was with these frightened and unbelieving men. And note what a splendid testimony it is to the truth of the resurrection that they who knew Him best expected proof before they believed.

Before we condemn them for lack of faith let us ask ourselves if we would have done better, and let us be thankful that their hesitation made assurance doubly sure. He was really there—alive. Partaking of food (which He did not need), and giving them opportunity to touch His body, He demonstrated the reality of the resurrection.

He next gave them a sure foundation for faith.

II. "Then Opened He Their Understanding" (vv. 44, 45).

This He did that they might "understand the scriptures." Their minds had become confused and He literally "disentangled" them. We need to have the knots and kinks taken out of our thinking about God's Word. Then we too will understand.

Dealing with the entire Old Testament (divided by the Hebrews into law, prophets and psalms), He thus gave it His endorsement. Men may deny, but Jesus approved the Scriptures of the Old Testament—and we are ready to take His word. "All things must be fulfilled" is His statement concerning Himself. There is our Lord's guarantee that the promises of His second coming, and all that is associated with it, as well as with His future reign, will be fulfilled.

This time of fellowship with the Lord around the Word of God was strengthening to their faith, but it had another purpose. The blessings of God are not for our own satisfaction alone, for it is His will that there be—

III. "Repentance Preached in His Name" (vv. 46-48).

There is a message to go out through His disciples to all nations. He died for the sins of the world. He arose for the justification of those who believe. There is remission of sin for those who in repentance and faith turn to Him.

Fellowship with Christ and an understanding of His Word which does not result in aggressive witness for Him is quite useless. We meet Him and study His Word not only that we may grow in grace, but that we may be witnesses to all nations.

To be a witness involves knowledge of a fact, to the truth of which the individual can bear testimony. The disciples were called to be witnesses, "not speculators, philosophers, moralists or legislators. They had neither to argue nor to dissertate, nor to lay down rules for conduct, nor to ventilate their own fancies. They were witnesses, and their business was to tell the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth" (Alexander MacLaren).

The Christian by life possibly more than by word is to "adorn the doctrine of God," as Paul put it (Titus 2:10), commending it to those round about him. Observe that such a witness is to start right at home, "beginning at Jerusalem" (v. 47).

It may be difficult in our times to send witnesses to distant lands, for ships are busy carrying the men and implements of war. But right in your Jerusalem there is a spiritual need, in your little town or rural community, in the city where you live, in your home, office, shop, or school. You who read this who are in the service of the country will find a "Jerusalem" in your camp or on your ship.

We Can All Be EXPERT BUYERS

● In bringing us buying information, as to prices that are being asked for what we intend to buy, and as to the quality we can expect, the advertising columns of this newspaper perform a worth while service which saves us many dollars a year.

● It is a good habit to form, the habit of consulting the advertisements every time we make a purchase, though we have already decided just what we want and where we are going to buy it. It gives us the most priceless feeling in the world: the feeling of being adequately prepared.

● When we go into a store, prepared beforehand with knowledge of what is offered and at what price, we go as an expert buyer, filled with self-confidence. It is a pleasant feeling to have, the feeling of adequacy. Most of the unhappiness in the world can be traced to a lack of this feeling. Thus advertising shows another of its manifold facets—shows itself as an aid toward making all our business relationships more secure and pleasant.

Dear Folks:

"How is everybody in Tinley Park. I'm OK. I'm on a trip thru Texas on special duty. I'll get back to Camp Wolters June 1st.

We started out the 19th of May, so far I had a swell trip. I sure got to see a lot of Texas in the last two weeks.

It sure is hot and windy today. I suppose its pretty hot in Illinois too.

Out here the nights are cool, nice sleeping at nights. Say Bates if you read this letter, how was your furlough. How is the G. M. at Lowry Field. I guess I'm in the dryest country in Texas. If a fellow wants a beer he would have to go forty miles for it.

Well folks, this is all I know for now. Wishing all the boys from Tinley a lot of luck, till we meet again, I remain

Dear Friends:
Received the cigarettes and handkerchiefs today also the kit with the toilet articles in it and wish to thank you very kindly. I also get the paper every week and really enjoy reading it.

The weather has been very nice out here lately but it still doesn't compare with good old Illinois.

I have never had anything to do with the USO except haul some freight and equipment for them but they are trying their best to make the men in Service happy and are doing a good job of it.

Sincerely your friend

Dear Friends and Citizens of Tinley Park:

I received your last letter a few days ago and was glad to hear from you. I am sorry I haven't written before but this is the first chance I had to write you and express my thanks for all the wonderful things you have done and sent to me. I want to thank the Citizens club for every thing they have done to make the fellows in the Army feel closer to home. When I read the Tinley Park Times it just brings me back home. I see all the names I know and read what's going on. It's like being right back there and seeing it done.

I can't write much but we have moved to Fort Ord, California, but not for long because we are pulling out. We don't know where but maybe a boat ride is in store for us.

As this is a Mobile unit for repairs we never have a rest period and are moving around from place to place repairing units in every stop. I sure would like to get a furlough and come home to Tinley for a visit and see everybody but that is out of the question where we are and all we got to do. We are always on the move and never have a permanent place.

I have slept in trucks, under them, in old barns and on doors floating in mud and desert sand with all the sand fleas biting at night.

This is a clearing station and all company's that left here have never gone to a camp in the USA, so maybe I get a little foreign service and a few scalps to my credit and have them in the Legion hall so you can see what skunk hair looks like.

Well folks I have to close now for my time is limited as I said before. I am sorry I couldn't write longer but will write more later.

Sincerely,
PFC Henry A. Johnson,
Co. B, 69th A M Bn., Fort Ord, Cal.

Coal Transportation Facing Crisis

The Government contemplates a critical shortage of railroad coal cars next Fall and is extremely anxious that during the time prior to August 1, 1942, while such cars are available that as large quantities of coal as possible be moved from the coal mines not only to the yards or storage facilities of retail coal dealers in every city, town and community thru out the country, but to homes and business establishments. A factor in such a program is the availability to retail coal dealers of necessary financing to purchase the coal at the mines and pay the transportation charges to the places of storage. To assist in this program the Reconstruction Finance Corporation wants to do all that it can to make financing for such purposes readily and easily available. Loans for this purpose, in cooperation with banks, as well as loans for the purpose of aiding in financing war production, are being made by the thirty-two loan agencies of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation located throughout the country. The Chicago Loan Agency at 164 West Jackson Boulevard, Chicago, Illinois, serves the Seventh Federal Reserve District, except the State of Michigan which is served by the Detroit Loan Agency.

"Bobs" Provide Biggest Kick

Riverview Park's inquiring reporter made a survey among soldiers, sailors, and marines, who were taking a whirl on the high rides this week, asking which rides gave them the biggest "kick."

On compiling results, Park officials revealed that the "Bobs" and the Pair O Chutes are top ranking favorites with service men.

The "Bobs", as thousands of Riverview fans testify, is perhaps the greatest "thriller diller" of a roller coaster in the world today. Attaining a speed of more than 60 miles per hour at times, the cars on this ride swirl their passengers over two thousand feet of steep hills and curves. It's tops not only with service men but with all fun seekers as well.

The Pair O Chutes gives its patrons the nearest thing to a real parachute jump in the world, outside of practice towers in air training fields. The 220 foot tower has six chutes which accommodate two riders each. The chutes are drawn to the top mechanically, then released to zip down guide wires and deposit its "jumpers" safely and comfortably on giant springs.

Other rides which scored high in popularity included the Flying Turns Moon Rocket, Comet, Silver Flash, and Blue Streak. Service men in uniform are admitted free into Riverview Park at any time.

PMA War Bond Contest On

Which Pure Milk Association farm in District 13 will win 75 in War Bonds for first place in the Association's 9th annual Neatest Dairy Farm Contest, PMA folks are wondering as the entry deadline approaches. Entries will be accepted until Tuesday, June 16.

The Herman Gee farm at Orland Park, first place winner last year, is not eligible for the District title a second time, but may compete for the grand championship title which carries with it a prize of $200, maturity value, in War Bonds.

Last year's second and third prize winners in District 13, Peter Haas, Joliet and Robt. Jungles, Lockport, are conceded a good chance if they enter the 1942 contest. The rules allow ample opportunity for newcomers, because no previous winner can receive the same or a lesser prize.

While shortage of help handicaps many farmers this year, those who are able to enter, Neat Farm Contest have the special satisfaction of competing for prizes of much higher value than any offered in previous years. First prize in each of the Association's 15 Districts is $75 maturity value, in War Bonds; second prize in each District is a $50 War Bond; and third prize a $25 War Bond. Final judging prizes total $350 in War Bonds.

Agricultural leaders have commented favorably on the impetus which the Neat Farm Contest is giving to the metal salvage campaign and the fact that the contest helps to inform city consumers of the dairy farmers' part in the war effort.

Public Service To Reduce Gas Rates

Approximately 171,000 residential, commercial and small industrial gas customers of the Public Service Co. of Northern Illinois will pay $735,000 less per year for gas under a reduced schedule just approved by the Illinois Commerce Commission.

Of the $735,000 reduction, residential customers of the company will benefit to the tune of $567,000 in their use of gas for cooking, water heating, and space heating, while the balance of the reduction will apply to commercial and small industrial consumers.

The new rates, according to the Commission Order, are retroactive to April 1, 1942, and the company will start billing customers under the reduced schedules as quickly as possible. Credits which customers are entitled to since April 1st will be applied on future bills as soon as routines can be worked out.

The three quarter million dollar rate reduction represents the entire reduction in cost of natural gas charged the Public Service Company by Natural Gas Pipeline Company of America, and results from a recent Court decision ordering the Pipeline company to lower its rates.

The Quartermaster Corps Oldest Branch

The Quartermaster Corps is the oldest branch of the United States Army. The night of June 16, 1775, as the farmers of Middlesex County were building ramparts on Bunker Hill, the Continental Congress in session at Philadelphia voted formation of the Quartermaster Corps, with a staff of three members, to handle the problems of food, clothing, and other supplies for the small colonial Army, that was being hastily organized to fight for independence.

And today in World War Two, as has been true since that night in 1775, Uncle Sam's troops look to the Quartermaster Corps for life sustaining warfare, and, new but highly important in modern mechanized warfare, motor transportation.

Since the close of the first World War, the Quartermaster Corps has been true to its mission. It has provided the protective garments of War scientists and technicians enrolled under the Quartermaster Corps banner have been toiling in laboratories and workshops, experimenting with and perfecting new items of foodstuffs and wearing apparel to protect the health and well being of the American soldier and make his lot easier in a multitude of ways. As a result of these patient, unpublicized endeavors carried out during peace time the onslaught of war found the Army of the United States well prepared from a scientific standpoint to meet the huge problems of modern warfare in the fields of food, clothing and motor transportation.

Some idea of the QMC's food problem may be gained from the fact that the Army's daily consumption of meat represents more than fifty freight carloads.

About the appliances we advertise nowadays

The appliances we are now advertising are limited to those we have on hand, or those that are made available without interference with war production.

They have all been selected because their normal operation in the home comes at a time of day when our electrical facilities are more than adequate to meet present power requirements for both war production and civilian use.

Furthermore, we believe that their use in most cases will conserve energy and tend to release home labor for helpful wartime activities.

Coal Transportation Facing Crisis

The Government contemplates a critical shortage of railroad coal cars next Fall and is extremely anxious that during the time prior to August 1, 1942, while such cars are available that as large quantities of coal as possible be moved from the coal mines not only to the yards or storage facilities of retail coal dealers in every city, town and community thru out the country, but to homes and business establishments. A factor in such a program is the availability to retail coal dealers of necessary financing to purchase the coal at the mines and pay the transportation charges to the places of storage. To assist in this program the Reconstruction Finance Corporation wants to do all that it can to make financing for such purposes readily and easily available. Loans for this purpose, in cooperation with banks, as well as loans for the purpose of aiding in financing war production, are being made by the thirty-two loan agencies of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation located throughout the country. The Chicago Loan Agency at 164 West Jackson Boulevard, Chicago, Illinois, serves the Seventh Federal Reserve District, except the State of Michigan which is served by the Detroit Loan Agency.

On compiling results, Park officials revealed that the "Bobs" and the Pair O Chutes are top ranking favorites with service men.

The "Bobs", as thousands of Riverview fans testify, is perhaps the greatest "thriller diller" of a roller coaster in the world today. Attaining a speed of more than 60 miles per hour at times, the cars on this ride swirl their passengers over two thousand feet of steep hills and curves. It's tops not only with service men but with all fun seekers as well.

The Pair O Chutes gives its patrons the nearest thing to a real parachute jump in the world, outside of practice towers in air training fields. The 220 foot tower has six chutes which accommodate two riders each. The chutes are drawn to the top mechanically, then released to zip down guide wires and deposit its "jumpers" safely and comfortably on giant springs.

Other rides which scored high in popularity included the Flying Turns Moon Rocket, Comet, Silver Flash, and Blue Streak. Service men in uniform are admitted free into Riverview Park at any time.

Which Pure Milk Association farm in District 13 will win 75 in War Bonds for first place in the Association's 9th annual Neatest Dairy Farm Contest, PMA folks are wondering as the entry deadline approaches. Entries will be accepted until Tuesday, June 16.

The Herman Gee farm at Orland Park, first place winner last year, is not eligible for the District title a second time, but may compete for the grand championship title which carries with it a prize of $200, maturity value, in War Bonds.

Last year's second and third prize winners in District 13, Peter Haas, Joliet and Robt. Jungles, Lockport, are conceded a good chance if they enter the 1942 contest. The rules allow ample opportunity for newcomers, because no previous winner can receive the same or a lesser prize.

While shortage of help handicaps many farmers this year, those who are able to enter, Neat Farm Contest have the special satisfaction of competing for prizes of much higher value than any offered in previous years. First prize in each of the Association's 15 Districts is $75 maturity value, in War Bonds; second prize in each District is a $50 War Bond; and third prize a $25 War Bond. Final judging prizes total $350 in War Bonds.

Agricultural leaders have commented favorably on the impetus which the Neat Farm Contest is giving to the metal salvage campaign and the fact that the contest helps to inform city consumers of the dairy farmers' part in the war effort.

Public Service To Reduce Gas Rates

Approximately 171,000 residential, commercial and small industrial gas customers of the Public Service Co. of Northern Illinois will pay $735,000 less per year for gas under a reduced schedule just approved by the Illinois Commerce Commission.

Of the $735,000 reduction, residential customers of the company will benefit to the tune of $567,000 in their use of gas for cooking, water heating, and space heating, while the balance of the reduction will apply to commercial and small industrial consumers.

The new rates, according to the Commission Order, are retroactive to April 1, 1942, and the company will start billing customers under the reduced schedules as quickly as possible. Credits which customers are entitled to since April 1st will be applied on future bills as soon as routines can be worked out.

The three quarter million dollar rate reduction represents the entire reduction in cost of natural gas charged the Public Service Company by Natural Gas Pipeline Company of America, and results from a recent Court decision ordering the Pipeline company to lower its rates.

The Quartermaster Corps Oldest Branch

The Quartermaster Corps is the oldest branch of the United States Army. The night of June 16, 1775, as the farmers of Middlesex County were building ramparts on Bunker Hill, the Continental Congress in session at Philadelphia voted formation of the Quartermaster Corps, with a staff of three members, to handle the problems of food, clothing, and other supplies for the small colonial Army, that was being hastily organized to fight for independence.

And today in World War Two, as has been true since that night in 1775, Uncle Sam's troops look to the Quartermaster Corps for life sustaining warfare, and new but highly important in modern mechanized warfare, motor transportation.

Since the close of the first World War food; the protective garments of War scientists and technicians enrolled under the Quartermaster Corps banner have been toiling in laboratories and workshops, experimenting with and perfecting new items of foodstuffs and wearing apparel to protect the health and well being of the American soldier and make his lot easier in a multitude of ways. As a result of these patient, unpublicized endeavors carried out during peace time the onslaught of war found the Army of the United States well prepared from a scientific standpoint to meet the huge problems of modern warfare in the fields of food, clothing and motor transportation.

Some idea of the QMC's food problem may be gained from the fact that the Army's daily consumption of meat represents more than fifty freight carloads.

About the appliances we advertise nowadays

The appliances we are now advertising are limited to those we have on hand, or those that are made available without interference with war production.

They have all been selected because their normal operation in the home comes at a time of day when our electrical facilities are more than adequate to meet present power requirements for both war production and civilian use.

Furthermore, we believe that their use in most cases will conserve energy and tend to release home labor for helpful wartime activities.

The following letter was received by Mrs. W. D. Roberts of Mokena last week, from her son Michael in Australia:

April 14, 1942
Australia

Dear Folks:

We arrived here after a long trip without a bit of trouble. I didn't get very seasick at any time. We sure got lazy doing almost nothing day after day. On the way a crew member died and was buried at sea and a couple soldiers had appendix operations. Easter didn't mean much as we were still on the way.

I haven't been in town yet but those that have say it is great. We get a kick out of the different expressions they use here. They talk just like the English. We all speak the English language but the different expressions make it almost seem like a foreign language. People here are real polite and always say yes ma'am and sir. They think the soldiers talk funny.

Their money is altogether different than ours. I have most of my money in Australian money now. A shilling is 16 cents in our money and they call them bobs. Their penny or penny is 1-3 cents in our money. The smallest bill is a half pound or ten shillings. Seems odd buying stuff because you don't know the value of your money. Prices aren't much different than at home I don't think. I have plenty of everything and don't need anything. I understand we will be issued American candy and cigarettes every week. Cigarettes were cheap on board ship. They cost 75 cents a carton. These guys here sure like them as they are better than their own.

We get a kick out of the right hand drive on the cars and trucks. Every time you cross a street they say you look the wrong way for the traffic. They have lots of American cars and trucks except that they have the right hand drive. They also have some of their own make which are small and have little motors. I've seen a four cylinder ten horsepower Ford and another little pickup with only eight horsepower. Gasoline is expensive here so automobiles aren't so common as they are at home. I've seen cars that run on charcoal gas. Looks to be an awful contraption to have on a car.

The way it looks we are going to have it nice. At present we are quartered in a building and we sure hope we get to stay on here. At present we are getting our clothes and our equipment in shape. We had gun inspection this morning.

We were sure glad to get on land again. We were lined up according to the passenger list waiting to get off the ship and the boys were all singing, they were happy but it will sure be a glorious day when we can return home with a victory to our credit.

We haven't any mail from home yet and don't expect to get any for some time. We sure miss the letters from home but we are good soldiers and we aren't homesick. I guess my fellows from the middle west are more accustomed to being away than the guys who were near to their homes back at camp.

I know you'll let my pals know I'm OK and all the family too. I imagine Gus is in the service by now. Don't forget to tell Wayne and Milly too. I probably won't be able to write to everyone but sure would appreciate some letters. I wonder how you're all getting along. By the time you get this Carol will be out of school. I hope he makes out good. I wish him all the luck in the world. I'll have a birthday before long. Pretty soon I'll be an old bachelor. I hope you don't have trouble getting help this year.

I think I'll try to send you a cable if I can as soon as I am able. Just want to let you know I'm OK. I guess I'll have to stop now. I'll come hoping this finds all of you in good spirits. So long for now.

As ever, Mike

A Bride's Cake to Greet You at the Reception!
(See Recipes Below.)

Wedding Receptions

After the "I do's" have been said, and you have remembered to wear something borrowed, something blue, and something new, besides throwing your bouquet to some lucky bridesmaid, you are ready for the reception.

The reception is among the more elaborate forms of entertaining, but because of our wartime status, this year's event will undoubtedly be more simple. Simplicity, however, does not imply lack of charm or graciousness, indeed, it often enhances it the more.

White is the color for brides, so use your linens or damask on the wedding table. Flowers may be white calla lilies in crystal or silver centerpiece, or other delicate pastel flowers used with plenty of white to carry out the theme. Have your candles, white, too, as the occasion is somewhat formal.

At most weddings the trend is to have other refreshments besides the traditional white cake cut by the bride and the necessary assistance by the groom! If you are baking the cake at home—and it will be good if you do—plan to have a small pastry tube for the frills and decorations with celluloid or paper figures of the groom and bride as a decoration.

Chicken, because of its bland flavor and general adaptability, is the answer to your refreshment problem. Chicken in a molded egg ring makes the table a picture, and your guests can easily serve themselves:

*Chicken in Molded Egg Ring. (Serves 8)

2 tablespoons unflavored gelatin
½ cup boiling water
½ cup cold water
1½ cups mayonnaise
4 tablespoons lemon juice
½ teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon grated onion
½ green pepper chopped
2 tablespoons chopped parsley
12 hard-cooked eggs
1 recipe of chicken salad

Soften gelatin in cold water for 5 minutes and dissolve in boiling water. Cool. Add mayonnaise, lemon juice, salt, onion, green pepper, parsley, and 10 eggs, chopped. Cover bottom of mold with one inch of the mixture. Slice remaining eggs and arrange slices around side of mold. Add remaining mixture and chill until firm. Unmold on lettuce, fill center with chicken salad and garnish with salted almonds and tomato wedges. Serve with mayonnaise or french dressing.

Chicken Salad.

2 cups cooked, diced chicken
French dressing
½ cup diced celery
½ teaspoon onion juice
½ cup shredded, toasted almonds

Marinate chicken in french dressing for an hour. Drain. Add remaining ingredients with just enough salad dressing to moisten. Season

Lynn Says:

Here's help to solve your gift problems for the bride: Linen minimums include the following: 8 sheets, 6 pillowcases, 2 pairs blankets, 2 wool coverlets, 2 bathmats, 8 bath towels, 8 face cloths and 12 linen hand towels.

For the dining room, the bride will need 2 dinner sets with 6 to 8 napkins, 3 breakfast or luncheon sets, 6 to 8 extra dinner napkins, 12 tea napkins, and 2 hot plate mats.

If possible, the bride should have a set of 6 in each of the following pieces of china. If she expects to set up housekeeping on a larger scale, this list may be expanded to 8 or 12 pieces. China set includes: salad plates, soup plates, cups and saucers, dinner plates, sauce dishes, bread-and-butter plates. For serving dishes the following are "musts": 1 large platter (for meat and vegetables), 1 covered dish, 2 open vegetable dishes, tea and coffee pots, and sugar and creamers.

with salt and pepper to taste. Chill well.

Make the reception a really memorable occasion by serving a beautiful Bride's salad, all fruity and creamy with the Egg Mold. Here's how to do it:

*Bride's Salad. (Serves 8)

1 large can pears
1 large can white cherries
½ pound almonds
1 large can sliced pineapple
½ pound marshmallows

Drain and cut fruits. Chop nuts and cut marshmallows with a wet scissors. Make the following cooked dressing:

Yolks of four eggs
Juice of one lemon
½ cup evaporated milk
¼ teaspoon mustard

Combine all ingredients and let cook over hot water until the mixture thickens. Cool. Fold in 2 cups whipped cream. Combine with fruit (well drained), add nuts and fold in marshmallows. Place in a mold, in the refrigerator overnight. Serve surrounded with endive or lettuce.

Now, the cake for the reception! This is a light butter cake, delicately flavored as befits the occasion:

*Bride's Cake.

¾ cups sifted cake flour
1½ teaspoons double acting baking powder
1½ cups butter
2 cups sugar
1½ cups egg whites, unbeaten
½ teaspoon vanilla
¼ teaspoon almond extract

Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder, and sift together three times. Cream butter thoroughly, add sugar gradually. Cream together until light and fluffy. Add egg whites, ¼ cup at a time, beating three minutes after each addition. Add flour, a small amount at a time, beating well after each addition. Add flavoring and beat vigorously. Turn into a 10-inch tube pan which has been greased and lined on the bottom, sides and around the tube with heavy, waxed paper. Bake in a slow (275-degree) oven 1 hour; then increase the heat slightly to 300 degrees, and bake 50 minutes longer, or until done. Insert favors, if desired, wrapping each in waxed paper, and pressing into small slits in the cake. Spread ornamental butter frosting smoothly on top and sides of cake. Decorate with simple borders and rosettes of the frosting, and trim with silver dragees. Serve on silver tray or platter with delicate sprays of fern, cosmos, or bridal wreath. Place special bridal favors on top of cake; or, tie small wedding bells or other favors to white ribbons and intertwine through sprays.

Ornamental Butter Frosting.
4 tablespoons butter
5 cups sifted confectioners sugar
2 egg whites, unbeaten
2 tablespoons cream (about)
1½ teaspoons vanilla
¼ teaspoon salt

Cream butter; add part of sugar gradually, beating well after each addition. Add remaining sugar alternately with egg whites, then with cream, until of right consistency to spread. Beat after each addition until smooth. Add vanilla and salt. Spread cake. Make rosettes and borders with frosting forced through the pastry tube. Makes enough frosting to cover the above cake and to use for decorating.

THE WOMEN'S ARMY Tramp, tramp, tramp, the girls are marching!

Women in uniform will be the 1942 feature of our war program. Girls will be doughboys.

The bill creating a Women's Auxiliary Army has been passed and one creating a Women's Auxiliary Navy is in the works.

It is soon going to be a question whether to tip your hat to a lady or give her a salute.

There will be 150,000 gals in the new army, and it is fairly obvious that before long there will be so many of them in uniform that a woman dressed like a woman is going to feel conspicuous.

It is all going to be a terrific blow at feminine daintiness and charm. The boudoir is going to look like an army locker room, every clothes hanger is going to have a military garment on it and the male members of the family are going to have their troubles telling which are their hats and which belong to mother and sister.

We fear a big drop in charm. A woman has to have everything to project oomph in flat heels and an army hat.

There will be no generals, majors, colonels, etc., in the Female Reserve. Those responsible for the matter were smart enough to know that chaos might result. But there will be other less militant titles. The ladies will be ranked as directors, assistant directors, first leaders, second leaders, junior leaders, etc. The preliminary battles will be fought over the question who are to be plain everyday members.

The gals will be paid. Directors will get $3,000 a year and expenses, assistant directors will get $2,400 and expenses, and those from junior leaders to first officers will get from $648 to $2,000 a year and expenses.

Expenses will not include bridge losses.

Just what the ladies will do has not been completely decided, but if the boys in the army could get their wish some of them will be assigned to cook, make beds and do the general housework which the boys now have to do.

Nothing would raise the morale of the American buck private like being relieved of the job of making his own bed.

The Women's Army will be non-combatant. (Except within its own ranks.—Ed.)

It may be sent anywhere in the world. And there is this one great consolation: it will not be sent out in those funny spring and summer hats.

THOSE MUSICAL COMMERCIALS

Radio advertisers are going jingle mad. There is hardly a product on the air market today that hasn't been set to music.

You can't tune into the radio these days without finding yourself in the middle of some musical boost especially written for infantile intellects.

There was a time when an announcer would plug a drink, hair oil, bon bon or cigarette in a straight TALK. He didn't need an orchestra to say a good word for a loaf of bread, or a choir to emphasize the value of a can of beer.

He didn't have to set a Mother Goose jingle to music to beat down your sales resistance.

Radio is the most imitative of all the arts. Let some sausage maker come on the air with a sales talk via a male quartette and a dozen other business men will have their commercials musicalized.

Are you a cigar manufacturer? Very well. You'll want something like this to convince the American public that you have the best smoke.

Facts About Flies

One pair of flies can multiply to 335,923,200,000,000 flies in 10 weeks, if all their offspring live, according to Alan Devoe in Reader's Digest. In writing about "Our Enemy the Fly," Devoe says that a fly egg hatches in 24 hours, the larva becomes an adult fly in less than 10 days. Thereafter at 10-day intervals, for 8 to 10 weeks, the female fly lays 100 eggs. The total for nine generations of a single pair thus amounts to trillions of offspring.

"We must fight continuously against adult flies that get into our houses, wielding old-fashioned swatter, spraying, using fly-paper," says Devoe.

Oldest Flag in America

The oldest known flag in existence in North America is the banner of Cortez which was borne in the procession when Cortez returned thanks to God at Cuyoacan for the capture of Mexico City, 1519. It is now preserved under glass in the National museum, Mexico City.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

Unused soap should be made into soap jelly and used for washing stockings, gloves, lingerie and curtains.

Table salt added to blue water distributes the color more evenly and prevents streaked or patchy-looking clothes.

Inspect the refrigerator every morning before planning the day's menu. That is one of the best ways of checking on the cooked food supply and of utilizing every leftover.

A fine spread for lunch sandwiches: Cover a pound of dried apricots with water and cook until tender. Then add an equal quantity of apples (in bulk) and cook all together. When it is cooked, sweeten to suit the taste.

Casualty—1,000 miles from the enemy

ALMOST as fatal as a bullet or a shell is the breakdown in the spirit of a sailor or a soldier.

Our men have the finest spirit in the world. But it must be maintained in the American way.

They must not be made to feel that they are mere automatons, fighting machines, as the armed forces of the dictators have been made to feel.

Life in our navy and army is hard. Discipline is tough. It must be. But there also must be moments when the sailor or soldier is treated as Mr. Somebody-or-other.

That's where the USO comes in. For the USO is the banding together of six great agencies to serve one great purpose—to see that our boys in the camps and naval stations have a place to go, to turn to, a "home away from home."

The duties of the USO have more than doubled during the year. Its field of operations has enlarged to include almost the entire face of the globe.

To carry on its all-important work, it needs funds. It needs your contribution. No matter how small you make that contribution, it needs it. Now.

You are beset by requests for help on all sides. By all means, try to meet those requests. But among them, don't neglect the USO.

Send your contribution to your local USO committee, or to USO, National Headquarters, Empire State Building, New York.

THINGS

LET'S take pattern Z9396 to the workshop. There, from scraps of plywood and with the aid of jig or keyhole saw, we can make these clever flower holders. Outlines for a dachshund, two bluebirds, a muffin-cheeked cat and his quizzical companion, for the sad-eyed hound, a wise owl, and a cute deer are traced to wood, sawed out, assembled and painted.

These are fascinating to make, and you've practical as well as decorative items when you've finished. Directions come with the pattern, which is 15 cents. Send your order to:

AUNT MARTHA
Box 166-W Kansas City, Mo.
Enclose 15 cents for each pattern desired. Pattern No.
